

Buying vapes for kids isn't doing them a favour

The #notafavour campaign challenges the attitudes behind giving harmful products to children.

In Scotland it's illegal:

 To sell vapes to under 18s

 To buy vapes on behalf of under 18s

Although vaping is less harmful than smoking tobacco, these products are not for under 18s...

Addiction

Most vapes contain nicotine, which is addictive. Teenagers' brains are still developing and they get addicted to nicotine much faster than adults do.

We don't want to recruit young people into nicotine addiction.

Ill Health

Vaping is not risk-free and we don't know much about the long-term health effects of vaping.

There are also concerns that vaping may attract non-smokers, creating a new route into smoking for young people.

97% of 15 year olds do not regularly use vapes

Money worries

The cost of vaping can quickly add up. For young people on limited budgets, this could be taking money away from other things.
